Please join us at the annual FRAA Earth Day Cooperative Farmington River Clean Up.

In its 4th year we've added even more fun for the whole family. Local guide Dave Machowski will conduct a Fly Casting Clinic and Barden Farm will host a seed bomb activity alongside face painting for the younger children.

SIGN UP NOW to earn bragging rights and great prizes as the team who grabbed the most trash, craziest item and more!

LOCATION: Meet at 37 Greenwoods Rd, New Hartford CT (The Hurley Factory/Ovation Pool). The clean-up will be located from Goodwin Dam in Riverton to the Route 202 bridge in Collinsville.

WE ENCOURAGE: Waders, boots, clothes that can get dirty, tick repellent, trucks and/or trailers to haul garbage if able! Garbage bags and gloves will be provided.

DAYS EVENTS

9:00-9:30 - Team Captain sign in and receive map with instructions

12:00 - All teams and trash back for judging/prizes

1:00 - Fill the dumpster and celebrate all your hard work

Don't have a team? Please still come, we can find other conservation minded people for you to connect with! One thing we've learned, there's always plenty of work to go around.

After the clean-up join us at this years after-party at The Parrott Delaney Pub, located in the Hurley Factory onsite. Light drink and food will be provided as a thank you from us to you, with the option to purchase more.
